StudioTraffic (<http://www.studiotraffic.com>) is an offshore entity, incorporated in Panama. It exists for more than two years. The concept of this program is quite simple: members receive 1% of daily earnings on their account level by surfing websites with special free software – Surf STV, which is supported by most of the existing operating systems. The surfing is fully automated, so all the program requires is to launch the software for the period of 30 to 40 minutes on a daily basis. You can miss as many days as you want, but the more you surf the more money you earn.

There is no minimal investment requirement – you are free to deposit any amount of money you can afford. The maximal deposit is $15000 per account – however, members are allowed to have up to 5 individual accounts. You can terminate your membership in the program at any time – if terminated within 7 days of your first upgrade, the company will refund your money.

Owners of different types of web-resources can derive additional benefits from StudioTraffic, since they are welcome to include the addresses of their websites in the ST autosurf list for free.

The program is using numerous e-currencies (such as E-gold, IntGold, Moneybookers etc) as well as various payment processors (e.g. PayPal). Payouts are made upon request within five business days. StudioTraffic offers an excellent customer support, including live chat with an operator and support tickets. An operator will respond to your inquiry within 12-24 hours. In addition, a forum is available for your perusal, where you can ask questions, share your opinions, or get some help from more experienced members.

The company's website has a very professional design and user-friendly interface, created by highly qualified IT specialists working in the area of web-design, computer graphics and software development.

The implementation of new ST business projects is underway. Among the most important of them are the launch of a new payment processor – StudioPay, and further growth of an audio service named StudioRocks.

Finally, we would like to provide you with our opinion and forecast regarding this program. The primary concern about any high-yield opportunity is based on a possibility of it being a ponzi/pyramid scheme, where the return on investment relies on the deposits of new members. Speaking of StudioTraffic, we are strongly convinced that it doesn't fall under this category. There are a few things which serve as a proof of the program's sustainability. First of all, it's the fact that StudioTraffic has been around for over two years (it is proven by the domain registration date). No ponzi scheme would sustain for so long with a solid return of 30% per month. Secondly, it's the presence of valid sources of income: paid surfing of commercial websites, sale website templates and software, and professional audio recording services. The most recent fact of the company's legitimacy is the verification requested by IntGold, which StudioTraffic has successfully passed. Another proof comes from the use of StormPay and PayPal by the program (altogether with many other options), since these payment processors are well-known for their harsh verification policies.

The upcoming steps towards the company's growth have been clearly declared, and the progress is apparent to all of its members. StudioTraffic management has stated that opening operational offices would not be cost-efficient. However, the company realizes the necessity of opening support centers in different countries. Their addresses will be placed on the website in the near future.
