ASTRA Systems Review

Investment Plans

ASTRA Systems (stands for “Advanced Strategy Trading Systems”) is an online high-yield investment program involved in stock trading and brokerage activities. The company offers two plans for prospective investors: you may either choose to receive 9% per week or 20% bi-weekly. For those who prefer to diversify, multiple accounts are allowed. The principal is locked for 90 days. You may withdraw it prior to the maturity date, but in this case a 30% is applicable. The minimal amount is $10 USD, while the maximum is fixed at $5000 per day (and per account). The process of crediting your internal account is instant, and withdrawals are paid automatically to you via E-gold. ASTRA Systems uses E-gold for all transactions – however, an additional e-currency might be added, should there be major demand for it.

Staff and Business Concept

The program is currently run by four people: Herbert Kronbaum (Head Manager), Manuel Camus (Web Development), Trudy Moreland (Client Support), and Sidney Oldham (Corporate Support). ASTRA Systems generates returns for its clients by contracting traders who operate at Eurex and other stock markets. Eurex is a relatively new electronic market, founded as a joint venture of Deutsche Borse AG and SWX Swiss Exchange. The market is currently offering an opportunity to operate a full package of financial and trading instruments on a daily basis.

Program’s Website

The company’s website appears to be very professional, with a high level of security being maintained. In April, 2004 ASTRA Systems was experiencing some technical problems, so they had to terminate their online presence for a while, with full refunds made to all investors. Now the company is back with a new site, which leaves no reasons for concerns of any sort. Also, the German version of the website has been recently launched, since many of the company’s clients are located in European German-speaking countries.

Customer Support

ASTRA Systems offers an extensive customer support with a guaranteed response within 24 business hours. A collection of Frequently Asked Questions is also provided on the company's website.

Our Opinion

The program's admin proved to be able to answer all of our questions in the interview he has given HYIP-Navigator. The company does not have offices opened to general public, so if you are considering a serious amount of money for investing with ASTRA Systems, we would suggest you try to obtain some more information on the company either from its staff or from Eurex (<http://www.eurexchange.com/index.html>), where it claims to operate, to verify its most recent trading activities. ASTRA System warns its investors that high yield equals high risk, and no guarantees of any sort can be provided. However, considering the program's successful performance in the past, we would recommend it as an alternative investment option for minor investors.
